

Chat GPT gave me a detailed recipe for “Mediterranean Stuffed Bell Peppers” when I asked it to create a dish for me. As delicious as stuffed bell peppers sounded, it wasn’t the dish that I created in P5js. I chose a dessert while it chose a main course. My dish was a simple illustration while the dish the AI created was highly detailed and text based. I made sure to thank the AI for their assistance, when the robot revolution inevitably happens I want to be on the right side!
